Chapter one

Author's Notes:

I know this is just a drabble but I think it\'s hard to write drabbles. I worked pretty hard on this and I hope you like it <3

James stomped into Dave's room. The redhead was sitting on his bed, playing guitar.

"You have to put that mutt outside," James demanded.

Dave stopped playing. He hated when people told him what to do with his dog.

"Why?"

"He licked my face," James spat, pointing to a shiny place on his cheek. "It's disgusting, get rid of it."

James turned to leave. Dave stepped in front of him, eyes blazing with rage. They stared at each other for a long time before Dave's face softened and he whispered, "You didn't seem to mind when I did it last night."
